O Lord forgive the times we stride

And hurry on our way
Pursuing paths of thoughtless pride
And thoughtless pass you by

The times we hear the church bell sound
And long to meet you there
Brush past the people all around
Without a thought or care

The times we look but do not see
You sitting with the poor
The homeless outcast refugee
The beggar at our door

So often we reshape you Lord
Make us resemble you
Living by your redeeming word
In all we say and do

A thousand icons cannot paint
The glory of your face
Teach us to find you in our world
And walk your way of grace
